THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

Ten Billions For Defense

The latest naval appropriation brings to more than $10 billion the sum made available for the gigantic defense program for the current fiscal year. But appropriations have a long route to run befor they become battle wagons and tanks, submarines and anti-aircraft guns. They must first pass the clearing house of the National Defense commission which awards the work to industries, makes the contracts, recommends purchase of strategic materials and expansion of vital manufacturing plants. The public has a vital stake in the progress of the rearmament program. It will be kept fully informed of the work of the National Defense commission. Either a weekly or monthly work sheet of progress from that commission is essential to keep the nation accurately posted on how quickly those appropriated billions are being turned into the ships, planes and weapons of defense.

One Million Greater

Dead as the dodo is that once familiar cry, "How you going to keep 'em down on the farm?" All the worrying these days is on the other side of the fence, "How you going to keep 'em up in the city?" In the last ten years, the newest census figures reveal, people have been packing up bag and baggage and heading for the country, semi-urban regions and small towns, with the result that California's rural population has jumped 30.9 per cent since 1930, while laggard metropolitan areas had to be content with a 15.2 per cent gain. The migrant influx undoubtedly played a part, but probably only a comparatively small one, in swelling the ranks of the rural population with 651,319 new members in this decade. But the main fact is that California is still healthily growing and gaining new numbers of loyal, substantial citizens. A total increase of more than one million citizens since 1930 shows California's population boom is still under way.

The Line That Failed

The French Maginot Line, once considered the mightiest fortification in the world, looked much less than formidable when correspondents were permitted to visit it last week for the first time since the fall of France. They were astonished to find that the so-called impregnable defenses were made of a concrete satisfactory for sidewalks, but far from adequate to meet the bludgeoning assault of blitzkrieg warfare But the real and terrible weakness of the Maginot line was that it conditioned all French military thinking to plan exclusively in terms of defense. When forced into open combat, the French army was prepared neither with machines nor strategy. Based on the success of trench warfare in 1918, the Maginot line proved the undoing of France because France did what victors in war generally do—idolized

James Turner Passes Away In Massachusetts

Word was received here by friends telling of the death on Wednesday, July 30, of James Turner, at West Medford, Massachusetts, where he and Mrs. Turner had been visiting her sister Mrs. Nancy Nutting since in May.

Mr. Turner was taken ill some weeks ago and underwent an operation at the General hospital. After three weeks he seemed to be entirely recovered and left the hospital, but a few days later was a victim of pneumonia and taken to Medford hospital but was not able to rally from the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner have resided in Campbell for many years, having purchased the ranch on Santa Cruz-Los Gatos road and completely remodelled the house which is still their home.

During their earlier years here they were very active socially entertaining extensively.

Mrs. Turner later was ill for many months and Mr. Turner's advancing years, he would have been 80 this winter, kept them more closely at home.

Mr. Turner was a native of Boston.

Mrs. Turner will return to Campbell in October, accompanied by her sister, who has visited here for extended periods upon several occasions.

Carl Scholz Visits Relatives

Carl Scholz who had been visiting at the old family home here on Budd avenue, where his brother Robert and sister Anna live, left last week by airplane for his home in New York and Mrs. Scholz who is still here has had word of his safe arrival.

Mrs. Scholz, the former Merna Sawyer, her mother, Mrs. Anna Sawyer and sister Miss Irene Sawyer, left today by auto for Oakdale where her brothers Roy and Verne are living. They will journey on from there to Portland, Ore., to visit Mr. and Mrs. George Fowler (Winona Sawyer), and then on north to Canada.

Mrs. Scholz will visit here and at Palo Alto before joining her husband again in the east.

JUDGMENT DAY

In a democracy, election day is judgment day—the day on which we judge the men who have served us, and those who would like to serve us. In another sense, it is judgment day for every citizen—the day when we must stand muster on our citizenship.

During bygone years, careless citizens have gone fishing on judgment day; thoughtless citizens have gone to the polls unprepared and cast hit-or miss ballots. Far too often, we have been heedless of the tremendous responsibility that popular government places on every individual who cherishes the privileges of a democracy.

But we can no longer afford lazy citizenship, either in California or in the nation as a whole. Californa's primary election on August 27 should bring every voter to the polls, determined to use his best judgment to aid his community, his state and his country in a period of crisis. And the time to get prepared for that election is NOW. We need to KNOW the men who serve us, and the men who wish to serve us. We need to KNOW their records and weigh them carefully. Let us not only vote at our August 27 primary; let us get prepared to render sound judgment and vote intelligently.

EAST IS EAST— WEST IS COOL

California newspaper offices have been explaining to puzzled inquirers the Great Heat Wave story of last week. Press association men, back east where the tall corn grows next to the dust bowl, put on the wires yarns to the effect that "heat wave sweeps U. S," "nation swelters," "five hundred die as America bakes," etc. Radio broadcasters also sent out the yarn.

Well, there was a humdinger of a heat wave, right enough. The eastern reporters just took in too much territory, like European armies these days, for the heat wave was stopped cold at the Rockies. We had no heat wave in California—pretty normal temperatures most everywhere. Taking one day with another, as Kipling might put it for California chambers of commerce today, East is East—but it's cool out where the west begins!

CONSCIENCE MONEY

Into a concession along Atlantic City's famed board walk, walked a resolute man the other afternoon.

"I'm returning this," he said to the proprietor, handing over a very old-fashioned bathing suit. "I sneaked out of here with it 25 years ago. My conscience has been troubling me about it ever since."

And so have run countless other stories which appear so often in the news columns — stories of conscience stricken persons returning linen swiped from a hotel a decade ago, paying a street car fare which went uncollected when the conductor overlooked them once in 1910, making good a year's overdue rent bill—all of them apparently tokens of the still, small voice that wouldn't let them be at peace until restitution was made. These people win our interest, but let's give our praise to the unnamed millions who faithfully discharge their obligations when due.

SPAIN WANTS CALIFORNIA

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish dictator, knows what a dictator must do every so often. He must promise something to the people. This dictator also knows his Spaniards—how they love their two-hour siestas, how they love to dream lovely dreams, build their castles in Spain's blue skies. So last week, it being promising time, he promised them California!

Maps hinting of Spain's "destiny" were plastered about cities, showing states bordering Mexico as the real property of Spain from olden times—and cunningly stressing California.

Wise Francisco. Other dictators have gained cold Norway and Denmark, wet Holland, desert Abyssina,etc. Bleak places compared with California where it's even sunnier and lovelier than in Old Spain.

And Francisco has every answer! Historic excuse? Why, Spaniards were living in California before there was any United States! Fifth column help? A cinch! Just stir up the Indians—let them take back New York while Spain grabs California! And when is the Generalissimo going to build a fleet and cross the ocean to seize California? Ah, senor — manana, manana. Now it is siesta time . . . . time for building castles in Spain . . . . castles of California. Fleet? Cross the ocean? Ah, senor, manana!

THE GOLD'S STILL HERE

Gone are the tented Conestoga wagons rolling west over the Old Oregon Trail, and gone are the square-rigged vessels bearing eager fortune hunters westward by way of the windy Horn, but still here is the precious gold that started a great migration to the Pacific, and turned the eyes of a nation toward a real El Dorado.

Out of California's hills and streams out of the great mounds of old tailings and from the depths of quartz mines, came a stream of gold last year that amounted to $50,234,240. So reports the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Long foremost among all states in gold production, California has been rapidly pulling farther into the lead with that 1939 output being six times that of 1929 and greater in value than that of any year since 1856.

All this puts gold, as a product, very much on the plus side of the national resource ledger. But as a medium of exchange? That's a different story. Those billions in bullion at Ft Knox are still unemployed, and along world trade routes they're tearing down the "Gold Wanted!" signs.

SO IT DOESN'T PAY!

Are you a die-hard?

Do you, despite the overwhelming evidence of facts, figures and common knowledge, still believe advertising can't produce, can't answer your need for a good trade-in on your used car, can't rent a spare room in your house, can't bring in the customers who pass by your shop?

Then listen to this:

Two farmers, Don Wilmes and Don Auten of Hastings, Neb., looked gloomily at their parched farmlands. They knew what they wanted. Rain! They knew want ads answer wants. They inserted an ad in their local nespaper:

"Wanted—a countrywide rain, slow and steady."

Before you could scarcely say "Jack Robinson!", old Jupiter Pluvius—apparently no mean reader of want ads himself—went to work, shooed some clouds over Hastings, turned on the valves, and sprinkled down more than a full half inch of rain.

If a want ad can meet that test, it can meet yours!

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Conquest, Slaughter and Death are riding rough-shod over the nations of Europe.

And the missing Third Horseman of the Apocalypse —Famine—is only waiting for winter!

According to confidential advices reaching officials in Washington, there is a period ahead in Europe which will mark an era of the starkest misery and wretchedness which civilization has ever witnessed.

The United States alone, of all nations on the face of the earth, can relieve it—and this country, if it seeks to feed all the starved, forsaken peoples of the dictator-dominated nations, may end up holding the bag, with Hitler and Mussolini holding the swag.

That is the predicament confronting the United States of America—and the American farming industry, which may be called upon to produce, as it never produced before, to save a starving, famine-stricken universe.

Briefly, here is the story: Europe's main crops have been poor. Harvests which would have ripened in the late summer and fall have been destroyed by rifle, artillery fire and tanks. What food remains has been turned over to the armies. Millions of farmers have been forced to abandon their farms and gardens.

Storekeepers of Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium have been robbed of their supplies by Nazi soldiers, who forced them to give away their produce in exchange for Nazi money, of little or no value.

Holland's meadows will be ruined for years to come, due to flooding in a desperate futile effort to stop Hitler's armies. Belgium's industrial area, which converted raw materials into finished products, is in ruins. Denmark's cows, which lived primarily on a diet of alfalfa cubes, imported from the Argentine and from Manchukuo, are being slaughtered for lack of food to feed them. An exceptionally cold winter froze the Danish potato crop, making a bad matter worse. And their fisheries can't operate to any extent, due to the fact that their most productive fishing waters are mined.

Poland is completely bereft with production at a complete standstill. France, under the heel of the conqueror, is faced with famine conditions in early fall.

And no matter what the outcome of the immediate conflict, Europe's millions will still be standing guard, when winter comes, instead of marketing their harvests.

Where does the United States fit into this picture?

That still remains to be seen, but undoubtedly all Europe will be clamoring for food, regardless of whether an armistice has been signed, or whether war still rages. Russia can't supply the void, for it is barely able to feed its own people; China and Japan can do nothing about it, because they are still at each other's throats in death struggle; England can and will do nothing unless she is the conqueror, unless Hitler has been vanquished. And there seems little probability that Britain, if she is to win the war, will have accomplished it before famine strikes.

Suppose the United States undertakes to feed the world, as it did during and after the first World War. What then?

Herr Hitler, who has proved himself a designing fellow

WOMEN IN YOUR "40s"
Read This Important Message!

Do you dread those "trying years" (38 to 52)? Are you getting moody, cranky and NERVOUS? Do you fear hot flashes, weakening dizzy spells? Are you jealous of attentions other women get? THEN LISTEN—

These symptoms often result from female functional disorders. So start today and take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For over 60 years Pinkham's Compound has helped hundreds of thousands of grateful women to go "smiling thru" difficult days. Pinkham's has helped calm unstrung nerves and lessen annoying female functional "irregularities." One of the most effective "woman's" tonics. Try it!

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Still uncertain whether the new "crisis" in relief is actual or political, but determined to ferret out the facts, the joint legislative committee on relief is making ready for a searching inquiry into Governor Olson's charges that an emergency exists in the SRA and that funds are nearing exhaustion.

No one will be allowed to go hungry and no cuts will be permitted in relief budgets below subsistence levels, according to members of the legislative committee. If additional funds are required, the money will be provided.

On the other hand, Assemblyman Albert G. Wollenberg of San Francisco, a sub-chairman of the committee, issued a stern warning to SRA officials not to attempt to play politics with the relief situation.

Said Wollenberg, as his committee planned to get into action:

"If officials of the State Relief Administration seek to play politics with human need, either to influence the outcome of the legislative elections, or for any other reason, they will be brought to book in short order.

"Our committee has been assured that adequate funds are available to carry on until September 10 without reductions. In the meantime, we intend to get at the facts and find out whether the 'crisis' is political or financial."

The legislative committee, if it finds that additional money is needed, may avert a special session of the legislature by recommending to Governor Olson that he use his emergency fund to augment the relief fund. SRA Director Rubinow, when he met with members of the committee last week, estimated he would need $1,800,000 additional to carry the relief load during the current quarter. Nearly that amount—$1,750,000, to be exact—was allocated by the legislature to the state emergency fund and could be used to meet the relief crisis, if the crisis is found to exist.

Governor Olson, when he first announced the assert-"crisis," said that he was dumping it in the laps of the members of the Economp Bloc, who had refused his demands for bigger appropriations. But the lawmakers... remembering... their generous allowance to the emergency fund ,may dump it right back—in the Governor's lap.

"Trail Days" In Los Gatos To be Held Aug. 23, 24

Fun for all the family. That is the slogan for "Trail Days" to be held in Los Gatos on August 23 and 24 to celebrate the completion of the new Los Gatos-Santa Cruz highway.

A pageant written by a Hollywood screen writer, a dance to the music of "Dude" Martin's orchestra, a gymkhana with some of the top riders and fine horses of northern California, a coaster derby down a forty-mile an hour grade, a golf tournament at beautiful La Rinconada country club, a tennis tournament and a carnival—these are a few of the inviting events scheduled.

In keeping with the spirit of progress in highway transportation, Owen Atkinson, resident of Los Gatos and author of Wallace Beery's screen success, "Twenty Mule Team," has written a two act play full of action, romance and comedy based on an old toll gate which at one time guarded the Los Gatos-Santa Cruz road.

For the vast number of horse enthusiasts who will participate in the parade, a 16 event gymkhana with prizes has been set.

One of the highlights of "Trail Days" will be the "Trail Days" dance to the music of "Dude Martin's orchestra.

The schedule for the days events are as follows:

Thursday, Aug. 22, 4 p. m. Kiddies' parade.

Friday, August 23, 12 p. m., carnival; 4 p. m. children's games; 5:30 p. m. family supper; 8:30 p. m., pageant.

may encourage all his captive nations to spend what gold they have left for American produce. And when there is no more gold in Europe, he may blandly declare gold to be a substance of no value—and inaugurate a system of barter.

The United States, always sympathetic to people in distress, may feed a starving world, as it did once before. But it may pay for it much more dearly than it paid in the disastrous post-war depression period which follow the first World War.

That's the dilemma which confronts America as the Third Horesman prepares to ride again!

"It's what we planned to do this fall—NOW we save 10%"

I figured it out this way. Present low prices of Gas Heating Equipment are almost certain to go up in times like these. Then I SAVE 10% through buying now (dollars saved are dollars earned). I can afford to buy because no monthly payments will be due until after October 1st. I know a buy when I see one and that is why my home is going to have modern gas heating equipment installed right away. P. S. I like the way the new furnaces with blower-fan and filter operate. They deliver lots of heat in a hurry.
